STEM stands for science, technology, engineering, and mathematics. STEM is important because it pervades every part of our lives. Science is everywhere in the world around us. Technology is continuously expanding into every aspect of our lives. Engineering is the basic designs of roads and bridges, but also tackles the challenges of changing global weather and environmentally-friendly changes to our home. Mathematics is in every occupation, every activity we do in our lives. Campers will partake in various engineering activities that will require building or creating. They will receive various supplies and have to critically think how to use those resources to create the project given. In STEM, it's more about the process than the outcome. Students will keep a STEM notebook to record their work.
